PRESERVING AND REVITALIZING OLDER COMMUNITIES: SOURCES OF FEDERAL ASSISTANCE

By Lesley Slavitt

Edited by Susan Escherich

Preservation Assistance Division
National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior

Revitalization of declining historic neighborhoods is an important national goal. These areas, and the resources within them, form the historical and cultural foundations of the nation and should be preserved as a living part of our community life and development. Places that are listed in the National Register of Historic Places, which may have been built as recently as fifty years ago, may be eligible for assistance through various federal preservation programs. In addition to those specifically targeted at preservation, there are many federal programs that can be used to assist individuals and communities in their efforts to restore their neighborhoods and the vitality of their economies. These programs can be used to retain the historic buildings which define the character of the neighborhood and to preserve affordability for residents.

This publication lists a variety of federal assistance programs which may not have traditionally been recognized for the role they can play in historic preservation. They include programs that support small business, job training, and community facilities in addition to programs geared towards the repair and rehabilitation of housing. Some programs have been specifically designed to improve the quality of life and opportunity for individuals based upon eligibility factors such as gender, minority status, income, location and community or military service. Many of these programs may be combined to fit the particular situation and needs of an individual or a community. Different forms of financial and nonfinancial assistance from the broad resources of the federal government can be brought together to work for community revitalization and historic preservation. Public-private partnerships often are successful in tackling revitalization and preservation projects.

Succinct descriptions and information on 90 federal assistance programs administered out of 16 different agencies of the federal government are provided in this book, which concentrates on sources of assistance available to non-profits, localities and in some cases to states.

Other sources of assistance to communities not described here include the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), and to a lesser extent the Small Business Administration and the Department of Agriculture, all of which provide funding for restoration after disasters. The Federal Housing Finance Board implements community-oriented mortgage lending and affordable housing programs and issues consolidated Federal Home Loan Bank bonds, notes, and debentures. Legislation such as the Community Reinvestment Act of 1977, which directs lending institutions to invest in underserved localities, has played a major role in making capital available for community revitalization.

Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) has provided volunteers to assist communities across the United States for over thirty years. The new Corporation for National Service will incorporate the VISTA and Older American Volunteer Programs as well as the proposed National Service Corps. The new Corps will help local non-profits or local governments in paying wages and benefits for workers who will receive credit towards tuition or paying off educational loans. These workers will be recruited and supervised by the local entities. For information on the Corporation for National Service, contact the Office of National Service, Executive Office of the President, Washington, D.C. 20500.

MAJOR FEDERAL PRESERVATION PROGRAMS

The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, as amended, is the basic federal law for identification, designation and protection of historic and archeological places of local, state and national significance. The Act established the major federal preservation programs including the National Register of Historic Places, the Historic Preservation Fund, technical preservation assistance, the rehabilitation tax credit and easement programs, and the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation. The State Historic Preservation Offices carry out preparation of National Register nominations, work with developers seeking tax credits and with easement donors, and administer monies from the Historic Preservation Fund. The National Conference of State Historic Preservation Officers (NCSHPO), located in Washington, D.C., can give interested readers addresses and phone numbers of state historic preservation officers. NCSHPO's phone number is (202) 624-5465. NCSHPO's address is: National Conference of State Historic Preservation Officers, Hall of States, 444 No. Capitol Street, NW, Suite 342, Washington, D.C. 20001.

The National Register of Historic Places, maintained by the National Park Service, is the official list of the nation's cultural resources which are worthy of preservation. Listing on the Register, or determination that a property contributes to a listed historic district, may qualify properties for various types of government assistance. Listed properties may qualify for grants from the Historic Preservation Fund if selected by the State Historic Preservation Officers.

The Historic Preservation Fund, administered by the National Park Service, provides matching funds to the states for the purposes of preparing comprehensive statewide historic surveys and plans, and for preserving and protecting properties listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Funds may be provided by the states for matching subgrants to private organizations, individuals or governmental subdivisions for purposes specified in the National Historic Preservation Act. In each state, the selection of preservation activities for financial assistance is determined by the State Historic Preservation Officer (SHPO), who is appointed by the governor. A portion of the funds is allocated to Certified Local Governments (CLGs). These local governments, which have preservation plans in place, work in partnership with the SHPOs to identify, protect and preserve historic resources. In fiscal year 1993, the Department of the Interior Appropriations Act included $29 million for the states' historic preservation programs.

The rehabilitation tax credit program has been the largest federal incentive for revitalizing historic buildings. Income-producing structures listed on the National Register or contributing to a registered historic district may qualify for tax credits for rehabilitation projects that meet the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation. These Standards were developed to assure that the distinctive features of an historic structure is preserved in the process of rehabilitation. Certifications are issued by the National Park Service. Developers interested in tax credits for rehabilitation projects should contact their State Historic Preservation Offices and work closely with them to be sure they meet all criteria for certification as the process proceeds. The 20% tax credit, which is applied to qualified rehabilitation expenses, is specifically targeted at income-producing historic properties. The credit leverages five times its cost in private expenditures on historic preservation. In fiscal year 1992, certified investment in rehabilitation of historic buildings totaled $777.07 million. The low income housing tax credit (see introduction to HUD listings) is often used in conjunction with the rehabilitation tax credit to create or maintain affordable housing in historic areas.

Easements may be granted by private owners to protect facades or important interior spaces of certified historic structures, or significant landscapes or sites, from alterations that will detract from their historic character. Restrictions granted by easements pass with title of the property to new owners, to protect the property in perpetuity. Easements may be held by a suitable non-profit organization; the granting of an easement may result in lessening of federal or local taxes. Again, the State Historic Preservation Offices are the contact point for further information.

Technical preservation assistance is made available through State Historic Preservation Offices, regional offices of the National Park Service, and the Preservation Assistance Division of the National Park Service, which prepares publications and provides training on technical aspects of preservation. For a catalog of available National Park Service publications related to preservation, readers may write to the Preservation Assistance Division, National Park Service, P.O. Box 37127 - Suite 200, Washington, D.C. 20013-7127.

The Historic American Buildings Survey/Historic American Engineering Record (HABS/HAER) of the National Park Service produces measured drawings, large format photographs, and written histories on historic sites and structures that are significant to the architectural, engineering, maritime, and industrial heritage of the United States. Documentation has been produced on nearly 25,000 sites and structures. The HABS/HAER collections are accessible in the Library of Congress. Write: Prints and Photographs Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. 20540-4840 or HABS/HAER, National Park Service, P.O. Box 37127, Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20013-7127.

The Archeological Assistance Program provides federal, state and local agencies, Indian tribes and others with technical assistance on the identification, evaluation, and preservation of archeological properties, collections, reports, and records. Activities include limited technical assistance on specific projects for the recovery of important archeological and historical data threatened with damage or destruction by federal undertakings. Available publications include a quarterly newsletter and a series of technical briefs. Write: Archeological Assistance Division, National Park Service, P.O. Box 37127, Suite 210, Washington, D.C. 20013-7127.

Listing on the National Register of Historic Places, or a determination of eligibility for listing on the National Register, means that any activity funded or licensed by a federal agency which may impact on the listed property must be evaluated by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation. The Council determines whether or not the impact will adversely affect the historic property. If it determines that the effect may be adverse, it will seek mitigative action. The Advisory Council may be reached at (202) 606-8503 or write: Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, 1100 Pennsylvania Ave., NW, Room 803, Washington, D.C. 20004.

The National Trust for Historic Preservation, chartered by Congress in 1949, is a private, nonprofit organization with more than 250,000 members and is supported financially by membership dues, private donations, federal grants and other sources. The National Trust's mission is to foster an appreciation of the diverse character and meaning of our American cultural heritage and to preserve and revitalize the livability of our communities by leading the nation in saving America's historic environments. Its National Main Street Center provides technical assistance to older business districts in rural and urban areas. The Inner-

City Ventures Fund provides loans, grants and technical assistance to nonprofit-sponsored projects which rehabilitate historic buildings for low-income housing and neighborhood-based economic development. Other programs include the National Preservation Loan Fund which makes below-market rate loans; the Critical Issues Fund which funds policy-oriented research; and the Preservation Services Fund which provides grants for consultant services, educational programs and conferences. Headquartered in Washington, D.C., the National Trust has regional offices in Boston, Philadelphia, Charleston, Fort Worth, Chicago, Denver and San Francisco. For information on National Trust programs, readers may call (202) 673-4054 or write: National Trust for Historic Preservation, 1785 Massachusetts Ave., NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Legacy is the Department of Defense program to manage the natural and cultural resources on the 25 million acres of land it controls in the United States. Legacy may fund demonstration projects which will have application to stewardship of Department of Defense resources. For further information on Legacy, contact: Department of the Army, Assistant Chief of Staff for Installation Management, ATTN: DAIM-ED-N, 600 Army Pentagon, Washington, D.C. 20310-0600.

HOW TO USE THIS PUBLICATION

The purpose of this publication is to provide basic information about programs of the federal government that offer assistance for preservation and revitalization initiatives. Entries are organized in numerical sequence using the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance and Federal Register program numbers by executive agencies, government corporations, and boards and commissions. These entries are organized in the order in which they appear at the beginning of the publication into a table of contents. There are three indexes at the end of the publication cataloged by recipient eligibility, type of assistance, and subject. There is also a short glossary of terminology which defines assistance considerations, restrictions, and requirements which may be unfamiliar, as well as a list of publications which may assist program applicants with written inquiries and proposals to the federal government for assistance.

Each entry is meant to provide basic information about an individual program. A prospective applicant should be able to identify programs which are appropriate for the applicant's needs; acquire a basic understanding of uses, requirements, financial information, and type of assistance; and, be able to contact the appropriate department for further assistance and information.

Each program heading contains the name of the agency, corporation, board, or commission which operates the program. This heading is followed by the title of the administering office within an agency if such an office exists. The final component of the program heading contains a five-digit program identification number followed by the program title. The first two digits identify the agency, corporation, board, or commission that administers the program, and the last three digits are assigned by numerical sequence. Thus, program number 23.005 is administered by the Appalachian Regional Commission and program number 59.005 is administered by the Small Business Administration.

There are nine individual categories of information which can be obtained from an entry. All known information is included. If information or data is either not available or not applicable to an entire category, the entry will be N/A.

Each entry includes the following information:

Objective—This is a brief statement of the goals and objectives which each program has been established to accomplish.

Types of Assistance—This section identifies the form in which assistance is transmitted from the administering body to the recipient. Assistance may be offered by one or a combination of the following: Advisory Services and Counseling (Non-Financial); Direct Loans (Financial); Direct Payments-Specified Use (Financial); Direct Payments-Unrestricted Use (Financial); Federal Employment (Financial); Formula Grants (Financial); Investigations of Complaints (Non-Financial); Project Grants (Financial); Provision of Specialized Services (Non-Financial); Sale or Exchange of Property or Goods (Financial); Sale or Exchange of Property or Goods (Non-Financial); Training (Non-Financial); and/or Use of Property, Facilities, and Equipment (Non-Financial).

Uses and Restrictions—This section lists the potential uses and the stated objectives and restrictions placed upon use of the assistance.

Eligibility Requirements—This section explains who can apply for federal government assistance. Eligible candidates may be one or a combination of the following: Federal Tribal Governments; Individual; Local; Nonprofit; State; and/or U.S. Territories.

Assistance Considerations—This section explains the formula and matching requirements prescribed by the administering body.

Financial Information—This section lists the range and/or the average amount of financial assistance and the estimated 1994 financial allocation.

Program Results—This section briefly lists the results achieved by the program in fiscal year 1992 or most recent accounting in quantitative or numerical form.

Information Contacts—This section first directs the applicant to discover their local or regional agency headquarters if the administering body prefers an applicant to go through their area representative. The headquarters office, usually in Washington, D.C., of the administering body is always listed with address and telephone number. An applicant may be required to contact the headquarters office directly or may inquire about their appropriate local or regional contact from the headquarters office if the applicant is not familiar with said office. In most cases, hearing or speech impaired applicants may get the appropriate TDD agency telephone number by dialing 1-800-877-8339 or (202) 708-9300.

Examples of Past Funding—This section indicates different programs which have been completed in the past, focussing on specific local projects.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The Department of Agriculture works to improve and maintain farm income and to develop and expand markets abroad for agricultural products. The Department helps to curb and cure poverty, hunger, and malnutrition. It works to enhance the environment and maintain our production capacity by helping landowners manage the soil, water, forests, and other natural resources. Rural development, credit, and conservation programs are key resources for carrying out national growth policies. The Department is also responsible for the inspection and grading services of the nation's daily food supply.

For further information concerning the Department of Agriculture, contact the Office of Public Affairs, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Telephone: (202) 720-2791.

10.433 Rural Housing Preservation Grants

Objective:	To assist very low- and moderate-income rural homeowners in obtaining adequate housing to meet their needs by providing the necessary assistance to repair or rehabilitate their housing. This program is intended to make use of and leverage any other available housing programs which provide resources to very low- and low-income rural residents to bring their homes up to code standards.
Types of Assistance:	Project Grants (Financial).
Uses and Restrictions:	This program has a statutory formula. This program has no cost-sharing arrangement or matching requirements although priorities under the project selection criteria include extent of leveraging of funds to complement the HPG.
Eligibility Requirements:	Nonprofit, State, and U.S. Territories.
Assistance Considerations:	Organizations may use up to 20% of the funds for program administration. 80% or more of the funds must be used for loans, grants, or other assistance to homeowners to pay any part of the cost for repair or rehabilitation of structures.
Financial Information:	FY 1994 estimated $23,306,000.
Program Results:	In fiscal year 1992, 189 grantees were funded to provide assistance to approximately 5,000 homeowners for the rehabilitation of their homes.
Information Contacts:	Multiple Family Housing Processing Division, Farmers Home Administration, Department of Agriculture, 19th & Independence Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20250-0700. Telephone: (202) 720-1606.
Examples of Past Funding:	In most cases, grantees that are currently active in home repair and rehabilitation were selected and were able to leverage their existing programs with new HPG funds.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Forest Service

10.670 National Forest-Dependent Rural Communities (Economic Recovery)

Objective:	Provide accelerated assistance to communities faced with acute economic problems associated with federal or private sector land management decisions and policies or that are located in or near a national forest and are economically dependent upon forest resources. Aid is extended to help these communities diversify their economic base and improve the economic, social, and environmental well-being of rural areas.
Types of Assistance:	Direct Loans (Financial), Project Grants (Financial), Training (Non-Financial), and Use of Property, Facilities, and Equipment (Non-Financial).
Uses and Restrictions:	Federal contribution to the overall implementation of the action plan shall not exceed 80% of the total cost of the plan.
Eligibility Requirements:	Local.
Assistance Considerations:	Economically disadvantaged communities may request assistance which is coordinated through a community action team and plan. Programs may include upgrade of existing industries, development of new economic activity, technical assistance, training, etc.
Financial Information:	Financial assistance ranges from $5,000 to $30,000. FY 1994 estimated $4,864,000.
Program Results:	In 1992, a total of 185 counties or communities received direct assistance with 102 of them receiving project funds.
Information Contacts:	Deputy Chief, State and Private Forestry, Forest Service, Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 96090, Washington, D.C. 20090-6090. Telephone: (202) 205-1394.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

The Department of Housing and Urban Development is the principal federal agency responsible for programs concerned with the nation's housing needs, fair housing opportunities, and improvement and development of the nation's communities.

In carrying out its responsibilities, the Department administers a wide variety of programs including: Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance programs that help families become homeowners and facilitate the construction and rehabilitation of rental units; rental assistance programs for lower-income families who otherwise could not afford decent housing; the Government National Mortgage Association mortgage-backed securities program that helps ensure an adequate supply of mortgage credit; programs to combat housing discrimination and affirmatively further fair housing; programs that aid community and neighborhood development and preservation; and, programs to help protect the homebuyer in the marketplace. The Department also takes steps to encourage a strong private sector housing industry that can produce affordable housing, and to stimulate private sector initiatives, public/private partnerships, and public entrepreneurship.

The Low Income Housing Tax Credit has been used in conjunction with the Rehabilitation Tax Credit to keep affordable housing in many historic districts. The credit can be used for new construction, substantial rehabilitation, moderate rehabilitation, simple acquisition of existing properties and repairs by existing owners. It can cover any size project, from one rental unit to many. HUD is currently revising its guidelines for the program. State housing finance agencies should be contacted for updated information on the Low Income Housing Tax Credit.

For further information concerning the Department of Housing and Urban Development, contact the Office of Public Affairs, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, D.C. 20410. Telephone: (202) 708-0980.

14.236 Supplemental Assistance for Facilities to Assist the Homeless

Objective:	To provide: (1) comprehensive assistance for particularly innovative programs for, or an alternative method of, meeting the immediate and long-term needs of homeless individuals and families; and, (2) assistance to cover the costs in excess of assistance provided under the emergency shelter grant program or the supportive housing demonstration program.
Types of Assistance:	Direct Loans (Financial) and Project Grants (Financial).
Uses and Restrictions:	To the maximum extent possible, HUD must reserve not less than 50% of all funds provided to assist homeless elderly individuals and homeless families with children, with a portion of such funds to be used for child care facilities. This program has no matching requirements.
Eligibility Requirements:	Federal Tribal Governments, Local, Nonprofit, and State.
Assistance Considerations:	Funds may be used for acquiring, leasing, rehabilitating, or converting facilities to assist the homeless and for providing supportive services.
Financial Information:	Financial assistance ranges from $15,000 to $1,000,000.
Program Results:	In fiscal year 1991, HUD made 20 awards totaling $10,849,000.
Information Contacts:	Contact appropriate HUD field office. Director, Special Needs Assistance Programs, Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, D.C. 20410. Telephone: (202) 708-4300.

14.242 John Heinz Neighborhood Development Program

Objective:	To help community-based organizations increase their capacity to carry out housing and community development activities, and to assist these organizations achieve long term financial support for their activities. These activities must benefit low- and moderate-income persons within the neighborhood.
Types of Assistance:	Project Grants (Financial).
Uses and Restrictions:	This program has no statutory formula. Matching ratios range from one to six federal dollars for each qualifying dollar raised by the grantee. The ratio is proposed by the applicant but is established by HUD.
Eligibility Requirements:	Nonprofit.
Assistance Considerations:	The organization cannot be a citywide organization, a multi-neighborhood consortium, or in general, an organization serving a large area of the city. Funds may be used for one or more of the following types of activities: (1) creation of permanent jobs in the neighborhood; (2) development of new housing, rehabilitation of existing housing, or management of housing stock within the neighborhood; (3) planning, promoting, or financing voluntary neighborhood improvement efforts; etc.
Financial Information:	Grantee organizations may receive no more than $50,000 in federal matching funds in a single program year. FY 1994 estimated $5,000,000.
Program Results:	Since the inception of the program in 1984, the program has made 280 grants to 206 community-based organizations.

14.851 Low Income Housing-Homeownership
Opportunities for Low-Income Families

Objective:	To provide low income families with the opportunity of purchasing their own homes through local Public Housing Agencies (PHAs) and Indian Housing Authorities (IHAs).
Types of Assistance:	Direct Loans (Financial) and Direct Payments-Specified Use (Financial).
Uses and Restrictions:	Annual contributions to PHAs/IHAs to cover debt service or direct funding of capital costs. This program has no matching requirements.
Eligibility Requirements:	Local and Nonprofit.
Assistance Considerations:	Units are originally owned by the PHA/IHA. During the period of tenancy, the family makes "mortgage" payments based on current income and maintains the property personally. When the family's income and equity accounts increase to the point where it can obtain permanent financing for the unit, or when the equity equals the unamortized debt and closing costs, ownership passes to the family.
Financial Information:	Estimated financial obligations are covered under program 14.850.
Program Results:	During fiscal year 1991, 45,692 units were reserved or under management.

The Department of the Interior has the responsibility for most of our nationally owned public lands and natural resources. This includes fostering the wisest use of our land and water resources, protecting our fish and wildlife, preserving the environmental and cultural values of our national parks and historic places, and providing for the enjoyment of life through outdoor recreation. The Department assesses our mineral resources, works to ensure that their development is in the best interests of the country, and encourages stewardship and citizen participation in their care. The Department also has a major responsibility for American Indian reservation communities and for people who live in island territories under United States administration. The Historic Preservation Fund Grants-in-Aid program is administered by the National Park Service and provides funding for the identification, protection, and development of historic properties and to the National Trust for Historic Preservation for its congressionally-chartered responsibilities. The Historic Preservation Fund, the preservation tax incentives program, and historic preservation and open space easements are the major assistance programs aiding historic preservation. These programs and sources for application information are discussed in full in the introduction to this publication.

The Department of Labor serves to foster, promote, and develop the welfare of the wage earners of the United States, improve their working conditions, and advance their opportunities for profitable employment. In carrying out its mission, the Department administers a variety of federal labor laws guaranteeing workers' rights to safe and healthful working conditions, a minimum hourly wage and overtime pay, freedom from employment discrimination, unemployment insurance, and workers' compensation. The DoL also protects workers' pension rights; provides for job training programs; helps workers find jobs; works to strengthen free collective bargaining; and, keeps track of changes in employment, prices, and other national economic measurements. As the Department seeks to assist all Americans who need and want to work, special efforts are made to meet the unique job market problems of older workers, youths, minority group members, women, the handicapped, and other groups. The Job Training Partnership Act which will offer close to 700 million dollars to states in 1994 to increase employment and earnings, skills, and decrease welfare dependency is administered out of the DoL.

Direct Payments-Specified Use—Financial assistance from the federal government provided directly to individuals, private firms, and other private institutions to encourage or subsidize a particular activity by conditioning the receipt of the assistance on a particular performance by the recipient. This does not include solicited contracts for the procurement of goods and services for the federal government.

Direct Payments-Unrestricted Use—Financial assistance from the federal government provided directly to beneficiaries who satisfy federal eligibility requirements with no restrictions being imposed on the recipient as to how the money is spent. Included are payments under retirement, pension, and compensation programs.

Formula Grants—Allocations of money to states or their subdivisions in accordance with a distribution formula prescribed by law or administrative regulation, for activities of a continuing nature not confined to a specific project.

In-Kind Contributions—The value of noncash contributions provided by the grantee, other public agencies and institutions, private organizations or individuals. Contributions may consist of charges for real property and equipment, and value of goods and services directly benefitting and specifically identifiable to the grant program.

Maintenance of Effort (MOE) Requirement—A requirement in certain legislation, regulations, or administration policies stating that a grantee must maintain a specified level of financial effort in a specific area in order to receive federal grant funds; may be used only to supplement, not supplant, the level of grantee funds.

Project Grants—The funding, for fixed or known periods, of specific projects or the delivery of specific services or products without liability for damages for failure to perform. Project grants include fellowships, scholarships, research grants, training grants, traineeships, experimental and demonstration grants, evaluation grants, planning grants, technical assistance grants, survey grants, construction grants, and unsolicited contractual agreements.

Provision of Specialized Services—Programs which provide federal personnel to directly perform certain tasks for the benefit of communities or individuals.

These services may be performed in conjunction with nonfederal personnel, but they involve more than consultation, advice, or counseling.
